Lash Japan 3d Day

By Associated Press

Startling evidence of American air might being hurled against Japan came today as Tokyo reported 250 U. S. planes made double-strikes against the homeland for the third successive day. Jap sources estimated 11,000 Allied planes are pressing the attack.

To fuel these planes, a Tokyo broadcast said, Allied forces seized Balikpapan, the great oil center in Dutch Borneo. With Borneo oil available, U. S. tankers will be able to haul 10 times as much fuel because of the shorter distance.

WAC IN BERLIN — WAC Doris Carrier, of Cambridge, has arrived in Berlin with four other Bay State WACs to serve with the American Occupational Forces in the former Nazi capital. They will be assigned to administrative duties.

Of the growing force of bombers available, 250 U. S. bomber and fighter planes from Iwo and Okinawa today made a two-pronged attack against the Japanese mainland for the third consecutive day, Tokyo reported.

American announcements disclosed that more than 120 square miles of Japanese industrial cities have been destroyed by Superforts. This includes 74 per cent of Tokushima, largest city on Shikoku island, knocked out in a single July 4 fire raid and 63 per cent of Okayama, important inland sea port 100 miles from Osaka.

The U. S. Fifth Air Force, which paved the way for Gen. MacArthur's return to the Philippines, has been shifted to attacking Japan in the first move of MacArthur's forces on the road from Manila to Tokyo.

In the only noteworthy ground action Australian troops completed the conquest of Balikpapan, Borneo's leading refinery city, captured the Manggar bomber field, and drove over mined and booby-trapped coastal highways toward the rich Samarinda oil field. Retreating Japs were following the scorched-earth policy.

The shift of the Fifth Air Force from the Philippines to the attack on Japan was announced today by Gen. MacArthur and his air chief, Gen. George C. Kenney.

It was the first step of MacArthur's forces northward from the Philippines toward Japan.

Thirty-six hours after they arrived at Okinawa, the 35th Fighter Group of the Fifth Air Force hit six cities on western Kyushu island of southern Japan. "This is just the start," Kenney said.

Tokyo said today's American air blows against the homeland included daylight raids on Kyushu island by 160 Okinawa-based fighter planes flying through bad weather. Ninety Mustangs from Iwo Jima hitting airdromes on three sides of Tokyo were said to be led by a single B-29.

Adm. Nimitz reporting on earlier air strikes said neutralizing raids were continued against Tokyo and Kyushu airdromes, seven small vessels sunk around Japan and Korea and trains and railway tunnels wrecked on the main line from Korea to Manchuria.

Tokyo acknowledged the loss of four more admirals trying to stem the American advance.

Navy Allows Sick Japs to Leave Wake

GUAM, July 6 (AP)—A Jap hospital ship evacuated 974 wounded and sick Jap soldiers and sailors from Wake island with the permission of the United States Navy, Pacific fleet headquarters announced today.

The incident was unprecedented in the Pacific war.

Adm. Nimitz reported the enemy ship was stopped and searched by an American destroyer as it approached and again as it left Wake island, where U. S. marines held out gallantly early in the war until overrun by overwhelming numbers of Jap assault troops.

American boarding parties found the bulk of the 974 taken off Wake were suffering from malnutrition, testifying to the effectiveness of the long American air and sea blockade of the island 1985 miles southeast of Tokyo.

Jap medical officers estimated 35 per cent of these wouldn't survive the voyage to Tokyo. Fifteen per cent of the rescued enemy garrison taken off were suffering from tuberculosis. Fourteen were wounded.

The evacuation presumably removed most of the Jap garrison and was a virtual admission American forces could take Wake any time they wish.

When the Takasago Maru was first stopped by the Murray en route to Wake, 2300 miles due east of Honolulu, the boarding party found she was carrying a crew of 357, including civilians, a navy boat crew and communications personnel, and 189 naval medical personnel.

100 Canadians Jailed in Riot

ALDERSHOT, England, July 6 (AP)—More than 100 soldiers were taken into custody today and a heavy guard was placed in this town, where Canadian troops have smashed windows in downtown stores two nights in a row in protest at delays in being sent home.

Where evidence warrants, the soldiers will be charged and court-martialed, Canadian military authorities declared. Military headquarters said the town would be cleared of troops.

Fake Discharge Racket Exposed

HEMPSTEAD, N. Y., July 6 (AP)—Existence of a "Complex, organized racket" whereby soldiers obtained "fraudulent medical discharges" and transfers from "hot outfits" due for combat duty was announced today by the First Air Force.

Fee for discharges was several thousand dollars and somewhat less for transfer to safe, secure branches of the Army, the Air Force public relations office said in announcing results of an investigation begun last April into irregularities at Mitchel Field here.

The Air Force said the recent court-martial of Maj. Walter V. Radovich, charged with accepting bribes to keep two enlisted men in safe jobs, "is not in any way connected with the present investigation."

The announcement said men who had obtained fake discharges "were from units in distant parts of the United States and not connected with the First Air Force."

"Evidence indicates," the air force statement said, "that payments of money were made to certain unscrupulous civilians in the metropolitan area."

These civilians passed soldiers on "to military members of the conspiracy at Mitchel Field, who then effected completion of the fraudulent processing," the air force said.

Suspicion of irregularity first began when it was discovered several enlisted men had obtained fraudulent extensions of their furloughs, the First Air Force said, adding:

"False official messages had been sent to the home stations of men . . . advising their organization commanders that the men were hospitalized. There was no record, however, that any of the men underwent hospital treatment."

The statement said two officers and several men who allegedly obtained the false discharges "are being held in confinement at Mitchel Field." The officers were not medical men but were attached to the hospital staff. Court-martial proceedings will be held later.

Daring DEs Save Flaming Tanker

WASHINGTON, July 6 (AP)—Carrying millions of gallons of high octane gasoline and ablaze from stem to stern, the tanker St. Mihiel was rescued from destruction by Navy firefighters April 10.

Disclosing this today, the Navy said the tanker was rammed by the tanker Nashbuck in convoy off the East Coast. Six million gallons of fuel fed the inferno.

A number of the crew died before they could reach boats, but the Navy did not estimate the casualties.

Unmanned, the tanker flamed from end to end when the Stewart, first destroyer to reach the scene, pulled alongside. The D-E poured streams of water on the blazing ship, beating down the flames so firefighters could board with other apparatus.

The Stewart was forced to pull away because her own explosive-filled magazines could not be long subjected to the heat.

Then the destroyer escort Edsall came. A volunteer salvage party fought small fires which broke out now and then and set about rigging the ship to get her to port. The Edsall acted as its "seeing eye" in completing the rescue which for a time was impeded by dense fog.

Start to Liquidate Exile Polish Gov't

LONDON, July 6 (AP)—The British took steps today to liquidate the machinery of the London Exile Polish Government, following joint recognition of the Polish Provisional Government of National Unity in Warsaw by the United States and Great Britain.

The British Foreign Office announced creation of an interim treasury committee for Polish questions to supervise the task of liquidation.

Polish forces which have been serving with the Allies, receiving supplies from the British government and pay from military credits provided the London Polish government, will have arrangements for supplies and pay safeguarded pending further decisions, the announcement added.

High Court Choice Vital To Liberals

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON

WASHINGTON, July 6 (INS) — President Truman has the opportunity today to give the Supreme Court a clear liberal majority in naming a successor to Justice Owen J. Roberts.

The President also has his sixth cabinet vacancy to fill due to the resignation of Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau.

War Mobilizer Fred M. Vinson of Kentucky is a favorite possibility for the Treasury post. Morgenthau will serve until the President returns from the Big 3 conference.

The appointment to the Supreme Court may be one of the most momentous in history. The court has split constantly, 5 to 4, on issues involving human rights, four of the justices, Black, Douglas, Murphy and Rutledge, have been called "liberals." Four others, Frankfurter, Roberts, Jackson and Reed, have been labeled "conservatives."

Sherman Minton Fred A. Vinson

Chief Justice Stone has voted now with one group, now with the other. Roberts always has been with the conservatives.

Federal Judge Sherman Minton of Indiana, a former senatorial buddy of the President, was a favorite for the Supreme Court vacancy. Other possibilities include Sen. O'Mahoney (D.) of Wyoming, Secretary of Labor Schwellenback and Assistant Secretary of State Dean Acheson.

Three circuit court justices were also mentioned—Sam G. Bratton, of New Mexico; Homer T. Bone, of Washington, and John J. Parker of North Carolina.

Geisha Girls Become Nurses

By BONNIE WILEY

OKINAWA, July 5 (delayed) (AP)—Geisha girls imported to entertain Japanese soldiers have a new job—working as nurses in civilian hospitals. Medical officials said they make excellent nurses.

"We like this work very much and everybody is nice to us," the leader of 14 Geishas told me.

"When the invasion started, I told all my girls they were free to marry or leave me but they all decided to stay with me."

She said that she and her husband, now a Japanese slave laborer, paid 8000 yen each for the girls, bringing 50 to the Ryukyus six months ago from Japan and Korea.

"In the months we worked here, some of the girls made enough money to pay me back so they no longer are mine," their leader related.

"We worked in Naha until March, putting on singing and dancing shows every night. The girls sold tickets to the show for any money the soldier wanted to pay."

When the invasion opened Easter Sunday, the Geishas began moving south, hiding in caves by day and fleeing by night.

"We lived in caves and foxholes two months and 20 days," their leader said.

"Finally, we found a pretty good cave and hid there, but when the fighting got hot the Japanese soldiers took the cave for themselves and made the girls go outside. Five girls were killed by an explosion.

"Later, American soldiers took us to a civilian camp. They asked us if we wanted to be nurses and we got in a truck but I did not know what nurses meant until I saw the hospital. We all like it very, very much."

Wendy Waits GI Dad's Visit

Frail 4-year-old Wendy Ann Cottam, on her cot at the Children's Hospital, today had her child-dream come true. Her soldier daddy had come back to her from the war.

HEALTHY "NUBBINS"—Dressed in his cowboy suit, Forest "Nubbins" Hoffman, Cheyenne, Wyo., who was given a premature Christmas party last year because doctors feared he would die before the holiday, is the picture of health today as he waits for his fourth birthday party next week.

Slowly recovering from a rare brain disease after physicians had almost given up hope for her, Wendy Ann will be taken in the arms of Pvt. James A. Cottam of Medford st., Somerville, rugged mountain trooper, who was flown 12,000 miles from Italy by a circuitous route to be by her side.

"Wendy Ann is going to pull through," his brave wife, Sally, had whispered as he embraced her on his arrival at South Station, ending the arduous trip that had been made possible through appeals to President Truman and Sen. Saltonstall.

Doctors and nurses who had watched the brave fight for life Wendy Ann had made after being told her daddy was coming home, also are convinced that she will pull through.

The happy father will visit the hospital today with his wife and son, Reginald, 13.

Pvt. Cottam said he had received his orders to return June 26 while stationed in the Alps. He took an Army plane to North Africa, thence to West Africa, Brazil, Porto Rico, Miami, Fla., and Ft. Dix, N. J.

He disclosed that throughout the air voyage he had believed Wendy Ann had died.

4 Dead in Scituate Fire, Woman Dying

Explosion-driven flames that transformed a two-story Scituate cottage into a huge torch within minutes caused the death of four persons and critically burned a 71-year-old grandmother early today. Victims of the tragedy were Mrs. Marion Murphy, 41, a widow and former Boston school teacher; her daughters, Jane, 6, and Ann Marie, 3; and her brother, Harry Dooley, 37, recently discharged after serving overseas with the Army.

Dist. Atty. Dewing ordered a search of the premises by the tate fire marshal's office. Lt. Norman Butler of the state police and Fire Chief Howard Cole of Scituate were directing an investigation.

Mrs. John Dooley

Mrs. Murphy was the widow of John H. Murphy, once confidential assistant to the state commissioner of correction and former member of Gov. Ely's staff. He died a year ago after being stricken with a heart attack while trying to help to solve the murder of Frances McGrath.

Burned so seriously that doctors at Weymouth Hospital held little hope for her recovery was Mrs. John Dooley, 71, mother of Mrs. Murphy.

Dooley lost his life in the explosion on a front porch where he was sleeping. Other victims were trapped in their rooms, so speedily did the blaze spread.

The fire was discovered by Thomas Macy, 17, of Tilden st., a lifeguard at Peggoty Beach, who was escorting home Annette Millikin, 15, who lives across the street from the Murphys.

Macy told firemen he heard two loud explosions before looking over and seeing the cottage of the Murphy family burst into flame.

After Ann Marie had been pulled out, Macy saw the arm of a woman hanging out a window and tried vainly to reach her.

"I tried to pull her out but the smoke and flames drove me off and forced me to jump back," Macy said.

The aged Mrs. Dooley, found wandering outside the cottage, was unable to explain how she escaped.

At first it was thought that a third Murphy youngster, Patricia, 9, also had lost her life, and a search began at the ruins.

But on questioning at the hospital, Mrs. Dooley was able to tell Medical Examiner Clifton H. Whitehurst that Patricia was visiting with friends in Newton. Her host, a playmate, had spent the 4th of July with Patricia in Scituate and the latter left for a return visit yesterday.

Mrs. Dooley did not know her son, Harry, had been killed in the fire. She told Dr. Whitehurst he had been visiting with them, but apparently she did not know he had stayed for the night on the front porch.

When firemen arrived, the cottage was blazing throughout and there was no chance for further rescue attempts. The home is on the outskirts of Dreamwold, the beautiful estate created by the late stock market plunger, Thomas W. Lawson.

Before her marriage, Mrs. Murphy taught in the William Lloyd Garrison School, Roxbury. She was graduated from the Boston Teachers' College and the Conservatory of Music and was wed to Murphy in June, 1935.

Murphy was a well-known figure in Bay State Democratic politics since the election of former Gov. Ely.

He served with Ely as State messenger and an assistant during the two years the latter was Governor, and was given the appointment to the special post in the department of corrections before Ely left office.

Victim's Brother Now Bomb Japs

Lt. John Dooley, NSN, of Scituate, whose brother, sister and two nieces perished today when a mysterious explosion and fire destroyed their two-story cottage in Scituate, took part in a successful bombing raid on Korea, July 4, the Navy disclosed today.

Dooley, a pilot, participated in a strike that hit four bridges, one train, one tunnel, one water dam and power station, as well as the bombing of Gunzan, Korea's biggest airfield.

The Navy flier spent a leave at home recently after 18 months in the Pacific and had not been back on duty long before he was flying as wingman of a bomber squadron against the Japs.

A Negro was held for questioning today following an attack on Miss Margaret Potter of Westbourne ter., Brookline, felled by a blow on the jaw as she stepped from her garage.

The suspect was picked up a short time later on Commonwealth ave., Brighton, and according to police, was identified by the victim.

Imogene's Major Back From Europe

NEW CANAAN, Ct., July 6 (AP)—Maj. G. Ralsey Stevens, 3d, whose wife, Imogene, is awaiting trial on a manslaughter charge in the slaying of a young sailor, has arrived from Europe, his father announced today.

The paratroop Army officer, said his father, George R. Stevens, Jr., arrived last night and phoned from a Virginia Army post.

The elder Stevens, former first selectman and police commissioner of New Canaan, where Albert Kovacs, 19-year-old submarine veteran of the Pacific, was shot to death June 23, said he did not know from what Virginia post his son called.

The 24-year-old Mrs. Stevens, held in the county jail at Bridgeport in lieu of $50,000 bonds since the shooting, asked her husband "come home at once" in a cablegram last week.

The elder Stevens was unable to say when his son would arrive from Virginia. The belief was expressed, however, that the major would go directly to the Fairfield Beach summer residence of his parents, not far from Bridgeport.

Hub's Airport Future Bright

"Boston, the Great International Airport of the Future," was more than just a slogan today although boosters of this great port and center knew that the fight for world trade and air passenger service had only just begun.

TO WED—Plans of marriage between Barsha Powers Shattuck, widow of an Army flier and former Boston deb, and Samuel Baugh, II, USCGR., of Jamestown, R. I., and Rosemont, Pa., are announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leland Powers of Brookline.

Money, lots of money—at least $15,000,000 for development of the port itself and vast sums to complete air strips which will be unrivalled—are needed before their dreams all come true.

But the first round in a new era of prosperity was won with announcement by officials of American Export Airlines and Transcontinental and Western Air, Inc., that this city will be a terminal in transatlantic flights. This news followed closely announcement of certification by the Civil Aeronautics Board in Washington.

Air routes have been planned to 16 foreign countries, with the first flights depending on the demands of war, but quite likely to begin to Europe by next spring. The interim will give time for necessary enlargement of the Boston airport in an improvement program which is planned ahead for years.

Former Mayor John F. Fitzgerald, Port Authority member, called the CAB decision a victory for the Authority. He said the Boston group has worked constantly for airport improvements.

"Three years ago I asked the legislature to have the State take over the airport and this was done," he said.

"Now, if the Legislature will give us the money to go ahead with both the airport and the shipping-port program, Boston will be on its way back up."

Sumner Sewall, president of American Export, said he hoped to obtain delivery of 44 and 125 passenger planes by next spring, when the airline will embark upon the new schedule. And Jack Frye, president of TWA, commented: "Our entire effort is now devoted to transportation across the Atlantic and the United States in connection with the transfer of military activities from Europe to the Pacific.

"The date of the inauguration of commercial service over the new route will depend on the progress in getting these jobs done and the completion of necessary arrangements with foreign governments."

The CAB also approved acquisition of American Export by American Airlines, Inc., enabling the two lines to merge into one air transport system. Sewall said he plans to use Lockheed Constellation and Constitution transport planes in the service and when this new equipment is available, it should be possible to make five trips a day to Europe.

An autopsy to determine the cause of the death of Leonard Fitzgerald, 27, of 49 Warner st., Medford, was ordered after he succumbed early today in Psychopathic Hospital from injuries alleged to have been received in an altercation with several sailors at Sullivan sq.

According to his mother, Mrs. Frederick Fitzgerald, he came home a week ago last Sunday bearing head injuries he said he had received at the hands of several sailors who had attacked him after he resented their slurring remarks.

No report was made to the police, according to Mrs. Fitzgerald, but Dr. Louis Grandison of Dartmouth st., Somerville, treated the injured youth. Fitzgerald failed to improve and was admitted to Psychopathic Hospital June 27.

WACs Work Hard, Enjoy Greeting Vets

By BILL PYLE

Boston's WAC Grover Whelans, official greeters of the Port of Embarkation who welcome back servicemen from the battlefields of Europe, lead anything but a life of idleness and ease.

The 15 WACs who make up the "glad to see you back, boys" gang tumble out of the feathers at all hours of the day or night to take a trip down Boston harbor aboard a welcoming tug to give the veterans their first hello.

It's nothing for these girl volunteers of the Army's morale division to get a hurried call at 4 a. m., grab a hasty breakfast at their quarters at Franklin Sq. House, then be on the go until late in the afternoon when the last returning man has left the transport and boarded a train for Camp Miles Standish.

On call 24 hours a day, seven days a week, the WACs never seem to tire of the grind. According to Capt. Lawrence Lasky, port morale officer, they put as much zip and zest in their welcome as they did the first time out, despite the fact that more than 75,000 servicemen have passed through the port.

The girls themselves love the assignments, even though sleeping and eating regularly is a thing of the past. Pvt. Maxine "Micky" Seiggruen, who hails from Saginaw, Mich., put it in a nutshell when she said:

"The fellows did a terrific job in Europe and they deserve the best welcome home the Army and the country can give them. We'll do plenty to give them the best in Boston."

Being on the official welcoming committee is hard on the feet. The girls walk miles each day escorting each litter patient to his berth on a hospital train or marching with the others to their cars.

In the near future there will be even more for them to do. Morale officers are drawing up a series of shows to be presented by the girls from mobile stages alongside ships before debarkation or on deck if the vessels arrive late in the evening.

This is in addition to their present duties which include singing songs for the boys over the public address system on the welcoming tug.

Their little spare time the girls spend in sun bathing, sleep and recreation. But those moments are few, for ships have been arriving almost every day and the WACs are always on hand.

6989 Veterans Arrive Here

Making its third trip from overseas, the Coast Guard-manned Navy transport Wakefield docked at Commonwealth Pier today with 6942 soldiers, 466 of them New England residents, debarking for redeployment.

Earlier in the day the Liberty ship Bernard Carter docked at the pier with 47 repatriated soldiers who had been liberated from Nazi prison camps and a number of battle-scarred tanks, half-tracks and truck aboard. No New Englanders were aboard.

The passenger list of the Wakefield was headed by Maj. Gen. James A. VanFleet, commanding general of the Third Corps, and Brig. Gen. Paul V. Kane, Third Corps artillery commander.

Sixteen civilians also were aboard the transport, of whom 14 were Red Cross workers. An Army nurse was among the passengers.

Among the units aboard the Wakefield were men from the 57th Chemical Mortar Battalion, the 90th, 95th and 99th Chemical Battalions, the 61st, 822d, 771th, 782d and 786th Tank Destroyer Battalions, Hq. and Hq. Hearing Blocked For Sailors in Teacher Beating

Absence of a Navy commanding officer today blocked arraignment of two sailors charged with the brutal beating of George Dawson, 47, Long Island, N. Y., high school teacher, who was found unconscious in his room at the Hotel Bellevue.

The sailors, charged with assault with a dangerous weapon, were held at the Fargo building. One of them allegedly confessed his part in the attack and implicated his companion, yet police have not been allowed even to fingerprint them.

Shore patrol officers said commanding officer of the sailors' ship was away on leave, and they declined to allow police to step in before his return.

Meanwhile, Dawson was reported in improved condition at City Hospital, where he is under treatment for a brain concussion, a broken nose and other injuries. He was slugged with a bottle.

Another sailor was being held by the shore patrol in connection with the strangle murder of Chase MacArthur, Foxboro superintendent of schools.

The sailor told authorities he was in Maine at the time of the killing. If a check proves this true he will be released.

11 Men, Woman Taken In Back Bay Raid

Eleven men, six of them servicemen, and a woman were arrested today in a raid by police of the Back Bay station on an apartment in Mountford st. and were held on suspicion of morals offenses.

Lt. Francis J. Hennessey and Special Officer Walter Nickerson, who led the raid, said warrants charging morals offenses would be sought in municipal court tomorrow.

Steel and Coal Hit By New Shutdowns

By Associated Press

Steel and coal production was hit today as new disputes, one closing the country's second largest steel mill, popped up along the nation's labor front.

The return to work of 16,700 CIO-United Rubbers Workers to the government seized Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. plants in Akron, O., was expected, following a 20-day strike, but other stoppages throughout the country kept idle some 50,000 workers.

The South Chicago plant of the Carnegie-Illinois Steel Co., a company spokesman said, was forced to shut down today, idling 13,000 employes, following a work stoppage by 50 plant CIO railroad operators. The plant's normal production of steel for the war effort is 10,500 tons every 24 hours, and it ranks second to the company's huge Gary (Ind.) plant in size.

In Cleveland, Republic Steel Corp.'s huge continuous strip mill was closed by an "unauthorized" stoppage by 100 CIO United Steel Workers, and labor disputes kept idle 4100 coal miners in eastern Pennsylvania, cutting anthracite production 12,500 tons daily.

A company spokesman of the Carnegie-Illinois Co. said the stoppage by the railroad operators stemmed from a strike last week by 30 maintenance men, which resulted in the laying off of railroad workers.

Republic Steel officials said the stoppage at the strip mill, which started Monday, may cause company finishing units to shut down for lack of materials.

In Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Owen Williams, regional director of the Solid Fuels Administration, said the work stoppage by 4100 miners at the Prospect and Henry workings, Hazleton shaft of the Lehigh Valley Coal Co., and the Huber mine of the Glen Alden Coal Co., is cutting anthracite production 12,500 tons daily.

New Drug Made Of Grass-Green

TOPEKA, Kan., July 6 (AP)—A new drug made from chlorophyll, the coloring matter which makes plants green, is performing "curative miracles" in an Army hospital here, according to Oliver E. Ebel, secretary of the Kansas Medical Society.

Ebel said a young doctor at Winter General Army Hospital had been experimenting with the drug which he had removed from grass-alfalfa and cuttings from the hospital lawn.

"The drug, which is brand new," he said, "will stop the drainage of wounds and is one of the most potent ever discovered in healing."

Solons Find U. S. Aiding Germany

WASHINGTON, July 6 (AP)—Movement of American troops out of France and into Germany for occupation is giving the Reich a head start toward recovery over neighbors it once conquered.

This was the view today of the Senate war investigating committee in a report on investigations made by a subcommittee headed by Sen. Kilgore (D.) of West Virginia.

Reporting "a tendency on the part of the Army to lose interest in France in French industry, in French transportation, and in French rehabilitation," the committee added:

"On the other hand, in order properly to maintain and supply the army of occupation in Germany, vigorous efforts are being made to re-establish its transportation system and put into production some of its industry.

"The result is that while all that is being done in Germany is for use of our own troops, the indirect benefit to the German economy is very large.

"In this way, our enemies are being rehabilitated faster than our Allies, and while German labor is being employed and paid, French labor is suffering from serious unemployment because of lack of ability to obtain materials to open French factories."

The committee said the Folkswagenwerk near Fallersleben, Germany, a factory described as comparable in size to Willow Run, had been returned to German jeep production by the Army with the former Nazi manager in charge.

The committee also demanded prompt recovery of lend-lease arms from European Allies for use in the Pacific war.

"The committee believes that all sources of supply for the Pacific war should be exploited to the maximum," the report stated.

Noting that legal title to lend-lease materials rests with the United States and that master lend-lease agreements specifically provide for their return, the committee said failure to act constitutes "a lack of vigor and attention to our interests."

PHILADELPHIA, July 6 (AP)—Dinah Shore's vacation with her soldier husband, Cpl. George Montgomery, will be in a one-room trapper's cabin on a Montana ranch.

"George has made all the furniture," the songstress said. "And I'll do the cooking."

In Philadelphia to sing at a Robin Hood Dell concert, Dinah said she would go swimming in Montana streams in a 3-year-old bathing suit.

"It gives," she said, "and that's more than a lot of these new ones do."

Texas Drouth Perils Steers

AUSTIN, Tex., July 6 (INS)—Gov. Coke Stevenson, who has maintained that slaughtering regulations should be lifted to permit free movement of livestock, believes he has an "I told you so" ready for the OPA.

He said reports of widespread drouths on west Texas ranges have reached his office and cattlemen have declared that range conditions will serve to reduce the size of beef herds.

Under OPA slaughtering regulations these herds may not be shipped to market.

Scant Rations, Hard Toil for Nazis Now

By LOUIS P. LOCHNER

BERLIN, July 6 (AP)—Longer working hours, forced labor and less food is the price Nazi party members pay today. The men and women who lived in luxury since 1933 must get along now on the same rations as the lowest of five categories into which Berlin's citizens are divided—that of persons not engaged in a productive occupation.

Those in the fifth class are entitled to a daily ration of 10.5 ounces of bread, 0.7 of meat, 0.24 of fats, 1.05 of flour, 0.52 of sugar and 14 of potatoes, plus a monthly allowance of 0.88 ounces of barley coffee, 3.5 of ersatz coffee, 0.7 of tea and 14 of salt.

The ordinary laborer's dailly allowance is 16.5 ounces of bread, 2.29 of meat, 0.52 of fats, 2.11 of flour and 0.7 of sugar, with 2.11 ounces of barley coffee monthly. Only the potato, coffee ersatz, tea and solt rations are the same in both classes.

Being allowed a ration does not mean actually obtaining it. In the Charlottenburg area the people had not seen potatoes in weeks. They have had fresh vegetables once since June 20. There has been no fresh fruit.

Robert F. Schildbach, long an assistant editor in the AP Berlin bureau and now ohmann (chief) for about 10 houses, explained the work system:

"The Russian-appointed city for the entire district informs us, 'The Russian commander desires 200 feet of rubble removed from such-an-such a street.' The block chief then informs each apartment house chief to assign the tenants to clearance work, and after their neighbors have finished their jobs the Nazis must pull the truck or cart to the dumping point."

People rush out eagerly for horse manure, which they dry to use as fuel.

Monkey Jag

DECATUR, Ga., July 6 (AP)—atrolman J. B. Walker found a window screen pushed out at the office of Dr. W. at Smith, pages torn from mazagines in the waiting room, pills and capsules scattered about and two large cans of ether overturned.

A fingerprint expert declared the little brown marks on the paper were monkey prints.

The fire department found the monkey, a neighborhood pet, resting against a chimney on the roof—sleeping off the effects of the ether

Here's New Cure for Ulcers But You Need Tough Japs

By RALPH MORTON

HOLLANDIA, Dutch New Guinea (AP)—The story about Anastacio Ramoran, the Filipino who claimed Jap mistreatment cured him of disabling stomach ulcers, was related here by Lt. Col. Carl C. E. Mellberg, U. S. Army chaplain.

When an American plane was forced down on Saipari island the pilot and mechanic were sheltered by Filipinos. Ramoran was still in his bed when the Japs demanded to know about the Americans.

"'For three years I have been bed-ridden,' he said. 'I know they were here, but I cannot tell you where they are.'"

Mellberg said the Japanese dragged the Filipino to the seashore and forced him to drink ocean water until he was near bursting. "Then," he continued, "they place his almost lifeless body on the sand and began to march back and forth across his face and stomach.

"The sea water gushed forth from his mouth, nose and ears. Finally he was abandoned as dead."

"Ramoran is now working his rice fields. The ailment from which he suffered was cured. Due to the atrocity of the Japanese, the ulcers in his stomach burst and we can assume the sea water acted as an irrigating solution that cleansed the abdominal cavity."

Military Wire-Recording Sets for Public After War

By DOROTHY CAREW

NEW YORK, July 5 (AP)—Wire recording—known for its many military uses—is expected to enter civilian life on a grand scale after the war.

An electronic method of reproducing sounds and speech on fine wire, the recording is seen by men in the industry as almost limitless in its possible applications to business, entertainment and education.

The recorder is a portable unit which both records and plays back. Equipped with a small microphone, it magnetically transfers sound to a thread-thin wire which passes from one rotating spool to another.

A program may be played back immediately after it is recorded, without any processing. It may be kept permanently or be "erased" at will so the wire can be used again.

One company's experiments showed o recording could be played as often as 200,000 times without loss of power. It is possible to make continuous recordings of more than an hour.

General Electric Co. electronics engineers cite as possible business uses for the device the recording of sales talks, conferences, personnel interviews and technical lectures.

"It has an important application in the recording and delivering of speeches of absent executives at meetings and sales conventions," company spokesmen said.

Broadcasting companies see its greatest immediate usefulness in the recording of spot news events for broadcast.

Headache Bill Back to Senate

WASHINGTON, July 6 (AP)—Like a commuting headache, the trouble-laden war agencies appropriation bill shuttled back to the Senate today with little prospect of early settlement.

Virtually gutted by a series of parliamentary maneuvers in the House, which removed $618,000,000 of the bill's original $752,000,000 total, the measure is giving the Administration two concrete reasons for worry:

1—Until some sort of agreement is reached, the funds of 10 highly important war agencies are held up, with payrolls to be met, supplies to buy and general expenses to be paid.

2—Senate consideration of the bill may run into a filibuster just at the time the foreign relations committee opens its hearings Monday on the United Nations charter.

The filibuster threat arises from the certainty that supporters of the fair employment practice committee will try again to add funds to support that agency's work.

The parliamentary situation in the House yesterday was such that one point of order, based on the fact that a given war agency had no statutory basis for existence, could knock its appropriation out of the bill.

40 Eggs Merely Breakfast Starter for This Little Gl

ATLANTA, July 6 (AP)—He's just an ordinary guy. In fact, he might be a little under ordinary—weighs only 140 and is slightly less than average in height.

But doctors can't figure out why PFC Chester J. Salvatori has such an appetite.

For example, here's an ordinary breakfast for that soldier from Southampton, Mass.

Forty eggs, two pieces of toast, several quarts of milk, eight pieces of bacon, a quart of coffee and a large box of cereal.

Once, he says, he ate an 18-pound turkey at one meal. His favorite meat is pork chops and he says he's eaten as many as 36 at one sitting.

Physicians who have the little guy with the big appetite under observation at the Ft. McPherson station hospital say his stomach is a little larger than average—but not much.

They also say his craving for food may be psychological. Salvatori says his prodigious appetite came upon him about 12 years ago.

A Centralized Traffic Control operator ... who may be 200 miles away ... by flipping a few tiny levers, "throws the switches" and puts a fast train on the lefthand track to pass a slower train. Both trains keep moving ... all traffic is speeded.

Control centers of this type are located on the ROCK ISLAND at several points, on lines where traffic is heaviest. Indicator lights on the operator's switchboard tell him at all times the exact position of each train in his "section." He plans and arranges "cross-overs" and "passings" that will move the trains with greatest speed. Wayside signals and signal lights within the engine cab keep the engineer informed.

Centralized Traffic Control ... which makes two tracks do the work of three ... enables us to handle an ever greater volume of freight.

Better railroading is the creed on the ROCK ISLAND LINES. Through continual improvements we move forward on our never-ending Program of Planned Progress. As yesterday—and today—so tomorrow, ROCK ISLAND'S sole purpose is to provide the finest in transportation.

ROCK ISLAND LINES

ROCK ISLAND'S "TRAFFIC CONTROL".....1852 STYLE
The first Rock Islanders had to do it the hard way. The candle lantern shown here is typical of the equipment of 93 years ago. Feeble candle light, showing through tiny slots in the metal lantern, provided the only means of signaling at night. Today's Centralized Traffic Control, and ROCK ISLAND'S experiments in electronic communication, offer sharp contrast to the meager methods of yesterday's railroading.

ONE OF AMERICA'S RAILROADS — ALL UNITED FOR VICTORY

THE JOKER IN AIR POWER

EVERY PILOT who wings his Liberator or Fortress over Germany or Japan knows what the joker in Air Power is.

Every ground crewman whose job is to keep a Mustang, Thunderbolt, or Corsair in hair-trigger fighting trim knows what it is.

Every aircraft engineer who ever saw the inside of a wind tunnel knows what it is.

Do you know the joker in Air Power?

It's very important that you should. For, partly because America forgot it during the prewar years, we came terribly close to losing this war right at the start.

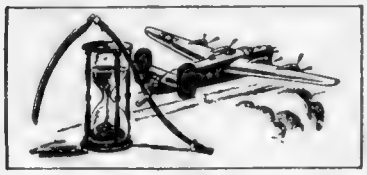
But now we are winning the war, largely because a few far-sighted men know what the joker in Air Power was.

So simple—so easy to forget

The joker in Air Power is TIME—the heart-breaking months and years it takes to design, to build, and to perfect a plane to the point where it becomes an efficient, service-tested battle plane, ready for action.



For example, America's first four-engine, long-range bomber was born back in 1934.

But when war was declared, some 7 years later, this bomber was not even then ready to go into action as the potent fighting weapon it is today.

True, the first model was flown in the summer of 1935. The aircraft engineers knew then that the basic design was good.

But between the first "prototype" and the current model, there have been more than 4000 changes, involving over 4 million engineering hours.

Even by working with desperate speed, it has taken years to smooth out the "bugs"—to give our Air Forces this heavy long-range bomber, so urgently needed, in its most efficient form.

There aren't many short cuts

When the war clouds grew blacker over Europe, the U. S. Army Air Forces came to Consolidated Vultee with the request for still another four-engine heavy bomber.

Shortly afterward—in 1939—the B-24 Liberator was born.

But, even with Consolidated Vultee's long experience in building mammoth sea planes, it took over 3 years, over 1 million engineering hours, and more than 5 million hours to tool up the plants, before the Liberator was ready to go into action as one of America's most devastating, heavy bombardment weapons.

Similarly, it took 5 years to develop one of this war's foremost fighter planes from drawing board to final test flight and mass production.

And one of the country's greatest aircraft engines has taken 11 years to develop—and ever since the war started, it's been undergoing change after change to increase its horsepower still more.

America 1941—a second-rate power

Many other examples could be cited. But there is no need to labor the point.

The truth of the matter is that America was caught napping. The nation which invented the airplane was woefully unprepared to defend itself against Axis air power. We had become a second-rate power in the air.

And the Axis knew it. They knew that under normal conditions, it takes from 3 to 7 years for a plane to progress from drawing board to combat duty.

What they overlooked was the undreamed-of capacity of the American people, and the American aircraft industry, to do the impossible.

Starting almost from scratch, we have been able to design, build, and deliver war planes by the tens of thousands—an air armada overwhelming in its might and superiority, as of today. But remember, the elapsed time has been five years!

"Hot" today—obsolete tomorrow

But in aerial warfare, the nation that depends on mere quantity and present-day superiority of its planes cannot win. That is one reason why Germany lost the Battle of Britain in 1940.

Progress in aeronautics is now so rapid that today's "hottest" combat plane is virtually obsolete tomorrow. Its quality must constantly be improved—to keep it superior to the enemy's ever-improving planes.

And it must be replaced, with all possible speed, by new planes now on our drafting boards, in our wind tunnels, or undergoing their test flights.

These are facts which an alert America should not, must not, forget.

Another fact to keep in mind

If we are attacked again, there will probably be no warning whatever—no time to prepare.

There will be no other nation to hold off the enemy, as Britain did this time, while we frantically build up our power in the air.

And the attack will most certainly be made with new and even more terrible airborne weapons.

We must be ready, and able, to protect ourselves from such attack.

Air Supremacy alone cannot win a war, and may not in itself prevent another war. But as long as we maintain our strength in the air, no aggressor nation in its right mind will dare think of attacking us.

Air Power is Peace Power

The backbone of Air Supremacy is a strong, independent competitive aircraft industry, constantly working in research, in the improvement of production technique, and in the development of still finer planes.

But we must understand that Air Power is a combination of all these things: a postwar Air Force, commercial air transport, a strong supporting aircraft industry with permanent facilities to meet any emergency, widespread personal flying, and a national air-minded way of thinking.

When we understand this, we begin to realize that Air Power can be one of America's soundest investments in the interests of a lasting peace.

LET'S KEEP AMERICA STRONG IN THE AIR!

Latin America Boosts Oil Shipments Here

The increase in shipments from Latin America was attributed to the availability of tankers and greater crudep roduction in Venezuela.

Visit Here En Route to New Brunswick

Duke of Windsor in Hub, Hints at Rule of Canada

The Duke of Windsor and his American duchess were en route to New Brunswick today on a fishing excursion after a surprise four-hour visit in Boston, during which the former British ruler gave the impression that he may be the next governor general of Canada.

He went as far as he possibly could during a brief interview at the Ritz Carlton.

"We'd like to know," queried one reporter, "whether it's true that you're going to be governor general."

The Duke interposed: "Of Canada, you mean?"

"Of the British occupied zone in Germany," the reporter corrected.

"That's the first I've heard of that," he answered.

"Well, how about Canada?" another reporter asked.

"Of course, I'd like to remain in North America very much," he remarked—and that was that.

British Press Widely Split On Outcome of Election

LONDON, July 6 (AP) — The Conservative press maintained today that yesterday's general elections had almost certainly resulted in a victory for Prime Minister Churchill's government, but the Labor party organs held the Conservatives had lost their absolute majority in Parliament.

Results will not be known until July 26, after the absentee soldier vote is counted.

Observers agreed there was a near-record turnout estimated at almost 21000000 voters.

The Daily Herald, labor newspaper, claimed the least optimistic forecast gave Labor 266 seats in the House of Commons as against the 163 members it had in the dissolved Parliament. It said "there were confident predictions that the Tory (Conservative) vote was a minority of the total cast."

The Conservative Daily Express said most cautious estimates gave a majority of 60 to 90 for the government.

YOUTH'S NEW CRUSADE

THE Youth for Christ movement, which has assumed the proportions of a major crusade among the adolescents of a dozen large American cities, offers a constructive and powerful antidote to the poison of juvenile delinquency.

Thousands of teen-agers, under the intelligent and sympathetic guidance of religious leaders, are channeling the physical and emotional exuberance into the wholesome activity of informal weekly revivals.

Music is the motivating and cementing element.

Community singing, quiz games, jam sessions, with now and then a motion picture or short talk in the atmosphere of a Saturday night get-together, lead the young people naturally and unpretentiously to brief and sincere prayer, the more heart-felt because it is the spontaneous overflow of happiness among friends.

The only novel aspect of all this is that it should have taken some of us so long to discover it.

The formative years of youth are full of emotional and spiritual struggle, complicated by the need of finding outlet for intense physical activity.

So delicate is the balance between these two forces, that the merest push one way or the other will determine the final direction of the organism.

Many a delinquent is simply a youngster, who, at a critical moment, has been turned by some slight influence away from his right instincts, or toward bad habits.

THE YOUTH FOR CHRIST MOVEMENT SEEKS TO PROVIDE THE CORRECT MOTIVE, AND IS DOING SO WITH GREAT DEFTNESS OF UNDERSTANDING.

Youth is gregarious, laughter-loving, active, hungry for approval, desirous of honor, generous in its impulses.

These qualities, when frustrated, tend to dramatize themselves in wrong doing.

When skillfully encouraged, they form real and permanent virtues.

What better direction, then, than to guide and stimulate youth toward the true purposes of religion, which are to lead us all to true brotherhood, to learn love and co-operation as social beings in the light of clean doing and thinking?

THAT IS THE AIM OF THE YOUTH FOR CHRIST MOVEMENT.

THAT IS WHY IT HAS CAPTURED THE IMAGINATION, COMMANDED THE RESPECT AND PARTICIPATION OF OUR YOUNG ONES.

Let our communities themselves participate enthusiastically and fully in this activity, for it promises not only the abatement of a danger but the confirmation of all our hopes in the fine new generation that is springing up.

ENCOURAGING

OFFICIAL designation of Boston as one of the nation's five terminals for North Atlantic aviation is proof that we can attain our rightful place in world commerce if we make the necessary preparations and present our case properly.

We have always been America's nearest city to the European Continent.

The airplane that stops in Boston saves time and money and offers safer and more efficient service.

But it was not until we appropriated millions for the expansion of Logan International Airport and actually began the long-neglected construction that we won recognition in Washington and elsewhere.

This knowledge should encourage and inspire the forward-looking citizens who are seeking a fifteen-million-dollar appropriation for the renovation of our woefully obsolete seaport.

To obtain the trade that belongs to us we must supplement our natural advantages with piers, docks and runways which are at least as good as those of our competitors.

PLEASE NOTE: A good police officer is a great asset to a community. It takes a man of high intelligence and strong character not to be intoxicated by the authority the position of a policeman gives him. A good officer builds up confidence in the law. By his kindly treatment of youngsters he inspires a respect for legal authority and puts them on the side of the law. A good cop will make a lot of friends. Very often these friends will furnish him with information leading to the capture of a criminal or the elimination of an illegal practice. I suggest all police officers read, "Behind the Green Lights," by Capt. Wilmansee. This is an autobiography of a New York city "cop."

TOUGH CAMPAIGN: When Walter Morgan soundly kissed his glamorous bride "Sugar" Geise after the ceremony I was much encouraged as to the progress of our campaign No. 3984D, which is for bigger and better kisses for brides. Now I note a newspaper photo of the after wedding kiss given Judy Garland by the groom, Vincente Minelli. He is shown kissing Judy on the forehead. This is truly discouraging. That campaign 3984D is a tough one however, it will not be abandoned. We will fight on and on.

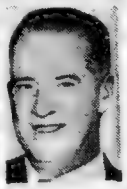
FAIR ENOUGH

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Copyright, 1945, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

NEW YORK, July 6—Capt. Joe Patterson, of the New York Daily News, usually has pretty good sense but when he lays an egg it is a double-yolker and that certainly is what he did a few years ago when he decided to nickname Mayor LaGuardia "Butch" and tried to put it over with the public.



Westbrook Pegler

If he had suggested "Snitch," a word whose meaning is understood in the soul of every man who ever was a neighborhood kid with an appreciation of the social ratings of youth, that would have been much better.

But "Butch" is a burly, manly, rough-and-tumble name suggesting a character whose every trait is flouted by the conduct of the man who has been what New York has had to make do for a mayor ever since 1934. LaGuardia was out of a job when Roy Howard, of the World-Telegram, to his later chagrin, picked him as the fellow to drive the rascals out of the City Hall which, as you may remember, had become a mockery skulking around the taproots of the good old sacred heritage.

★ ★ ★

LAGUARDIA ROLLS rough language around in his mouth with voluptuous relish and repeats it and fairly drools it and, if you doubt this, you ask Jim Farley about his distress one time in a mayoralty campaign when he wanted to bring out this fact but just couldn't because it was impossible to repeat even to a stag meeting the language that "The Hat" had uttered for publication only a short time before.

A reporter had asked him for a statement and LaGuardia said he would make one if the reporter would promise that it would be printed verbatim.

The reporter naturally agreed and then LaGuardia let fly and not only that but, for sheer pleasure in the repetition of his obscenities, said them again slowly as the reporter made his notes.

MOREOVER, LaGuardia is a bull-dozer who takes advantage of his position to bawl out decent, manly officials of the police department who would reach out and knock him bowlegged but for his power to fire them out of the service without their pensions after all their years.

He humiliates other subordinates in the same way and although he is a great fourflusher about the right of a worker to talk back to the boss, man-fashion, without being fired, he goes into screaming rages whenever some individual decides that his manhood is more precious than a job and lets him have some of his abuse right back.

In the last few years he has just about talked himself out of his job as mayor by his absurdities over the municipal radio station which has become his personal propaganda outlet.

Most demagogues use radio to advantage but LaGuardia's voice is almost soprano and moreover most of the "masses" to whom he looks for his support are the very people who like to lay a bet in the books or play the numbers racket.

However, The Hat has been wowsing against the operators of these public utilities for years.

THERE WAS a race riot in Harlem a few years ago and you would have thought that would be a lesson to him. But no, the other day he had to get on the air and tell the Negro population that the white daily newspapers had purposely refrained from saying that Gen. Eisenhower was going to drive through Harlem to the ball game because the papers were anti-Negro, which was not true and might have stirred up another disaster.

Then he made a political occasion of the Eisenhower dinner, using the general as the stooge for a political trick while a lot of radicals and Reds horned in where they had no business.

Murray Davis, a reporter, a big fellow who used to pitch ball in the American Association, knocked his ears down one day. He asked LaGuardia some question and got a dirty answer and gave one back and then LaGuardia screamed: "I am going to tell your boss on you."

Instead of slapping him across the mouth, Davis pitched his voice into an effeminate treble and shrieked back: "And I am going to tell my mama on you."

HOLLYWOOD, July 6—Any time Harry James gets tired of trumpeting he can continue acting. To tell the truth, when Darryl Zanuck put him into "Kitten on the Keys" as an actor, I have a hunch he did it to please Betty Grable, 20th's best money-maker, and also because he was using the James band, which is cash in the bank for any movie.

In "Kitten" James doubles in brass, so to speak, both trumpeting and acting, and now he's got an acting job again with Producer George Jessel. He will be among the top boys in "Band Wagon," another musical, and do his comedy stuff. He's a good comedian they tell me.

Ida Lupino

"WHY WAS I BORN"—the title of the old familiar song—will be the name of Ida Lupino's next picture at Warners if the song rights can be cleared. There has been more sh-shhh-ing over this picture which Raoul Walsh is going to direct, waiting for the title to come out of the woods. Ida will have Robert (Gershwin) Alda as her leading man, and believe me, Alda's rarin' to go.

THE SNAPPY billet doux winging between me and Mickey Rooney hit a new high in coincidence when a letter arrived from him the very moment I picked up a phone to learn he was the father of a 7-pound boy. Mickey and I, who were not exactly romancing when he left, have become almost ardent in correspondence as witness his opening comment: "Received your sweet letter. I sure love to get your letters." Then a more commercial angle crops up when he says: "I have written a story for myself called 'The Gravy Train'—hope someone likes it. Give all my best." Okay. Congratulations Pappy!

THE HAND-KISSING, attractive Helmut Dantine, who made his success as a nasty Nazi, got a little taste of how it seems to be nice. In New York and Washington the fans gave him a royal reception, so he's come back to Hollywood determined not to be a villain any longer. When he was in Washington he made recordings in French, German and Italian, to be sent overseas.

BETTE DAVIS' first husband, Capt. Harmon O. Nelson, is due back from the South Pacific any hour. The news comes in a letter from Barron Polan, who says "Ham" has done a miracle job with a radio station in the Philippines. "The station is a Quonset, complete with every convenience of modern radio. It was built by begging, borrowing and trading and something called 'moonlight requisitioning'—A GI form of Lend-Lease. Nelson's tent is another marvel of ingenuity. In one corner is 'Ham Nelson's Snack Bar,' albeit without benefit of Scotch, bourbon or gin. In another corner are a shower (unique out here) and a dressing room. One of the shows Ham inaugurated here was 'Locate Your Buddy,' which has been wonderful for the boys who write in asking where they may locate a friend of whom they have lost track. Thirty-eight per cent of such inquiries have been located."

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD COLLECTED AT RANDOM: Dave Rose took cute little June Haver to dinner at the Beverly Tropics and Mama went along; Edmund O'Brien is reported very ill in New York; Richard Hutton has been telling his troubles to Barbara Hutton; Hollywood will talk for a long time about the Joan Bennett-Walter Wanger dinner for Arthur Rank and his party. Over 150 guests sat down to dinner, seated in a huge tent. Believe me, it is some task, giving a sit-down dinner for that many, but Joan is a marvelous hostess. The clergy was there with the movie contingent. In the party were Bishop Stevens, the Rev. and Mrs. Herbert Smith, Rabbi and Mrs. Magnin and Rabbi and Mrs. Nussbaum. Frances Goldwyn came with Sammy Jr., a fine looking boy. Sam Sr. had gone to New York the day previous. Olivia De Havilland brought Capt. McKeon, who had been in a German concentration camp; Louis B. Mayer celebrated his birthday and Joan had a big cake for him.

Boston After Dark

FROM THIS COLUMN of Tuesday (July 3): "EXCLUSIVE: Sec. of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau, Jr., has hired a summer home at Cotuit, Cape Cod, for the summer . . . Mr. Morgenthau shortly—within two weeks at most—will respond to one of those 'understandings,' and his resignation will be accepted by President Truman . . . Lovely Cotuit, Mass., will be the locale for the Morgenthau transition from active Capital duty to the comparative sinecure of private life and long distance farming" . . . FROM THIS MORNING'S (JULY 6) HEADLINES:

"Morgenthau Resigns!"

★ ★ ★

AND A NICE SEQUEL to the first definite story in any newspaper that Henry the Morgue was on the way out is today's exclusive . . .' Sen. George of Georgia, leading money and tax expert in the Senate, has been offered the job as Secretary of the Treasury . . . He is thinking it over.

★ ★ ★

IN THE COLUMN which forecast the Morgenthau resignation, we gave the further advice that Winthrop Rockefeller and Archibald MacLeish soon would sever official relations with the Administration . . . Both were Roosevelt stalwarts . . . Well, we are ready today to give an approximate date on the twin retirements (although each may be announced separately) . . . Winthrop of the Rockefellers and Archie the Poet will be given their walking papers (which, as in the case of Mr. Morgenthau, will take the form of resignations) before President Truman leaves for the Big Three conference . . . AND THE PRESIDENT'S DEPARTURE WILL TAKE PLACE EARLIER THAN THE DATE THREE WEEKS HENCE WHICH TODAY'S NEWS DISPATCHES ARE ESTIMATING.

★ ★ ★

ONE MORE BRACE of Washington reminders . . . First, the story in this column yesterday telling about 12 young college graduate agents of the Treasury Department (T-men, as they are called) going to Germany on U. S. business can be amplified today . . . Uncle Sam has seized the giant I. G. Farben-Industries, the German chemical and drug plant, which long has been linked in rumors with "connections" in the United States . . . Our bright young T-men are at work already on examination of documents, records and data connected with I. G. Farben-Industries . . . Out of their investigations may come the most livid scandal of collaboration between important United States industrialists and their opposite numbers in Hitler's Reich . . . Uncle Sam expects to learn that this collaboration continued long after President Roosevelt swapped 50 destroyers for British bases, and after Hitler announced that American ships would be submarined for aiding Germany's enemies.

FINALLY—a Washington note of lesser import but of widespread interest is that the Washington Senators, baseball team largely recruited from neighboring Cuba, is on a winning rampage that has caused the odds on the pennant race to switch abruptly in the past two weeks . . . The Washington club is 5-2 now to outlast New York, St. Louis and, of course, Boston and is second choice to Detroit in the "July line." To put our own oar in, Washington will win (prediction) the pennant.

NEW YORK, July 6—How much do you really know about your celebrities? Kenneth Doncourt was born in Utica, N. Y. He went into vaudeville when it was in its hey-day. He started out as a straightman (that's a stooge in a clean shirt) but was fired because he got out more laughs than the comedian he was working for, and was immediately hired by the manager of the theater as a single. He originally worked with a top-hat and clarinet, but abandoned them in favor of his now famous cigar. He was the first comedian to m. c. a whole bill at the Palace, the Mecca of the five-a-day artists. He played the Palace for 19 weeks in one year!

Fredric March

When Vaudeville bit the skids he went into radio. "Blackouts," a vaude-revue which he backed, produced and starred in, has smashed all previous records on the West Coast, and has been doing so for over three years. His father was a well-known comedian, and when Kenneth embarked on a theatrical career, he didn't want to trade upon his father's name.

So he changed his own to (have you guessed it yet?) Ken Murray.

★ ★ ★

FRED RICKEL made his first big impression on Hollywood when he gave a very good portrayal of the late John Barrymore, in the screen version of a satire on the fabulous Barrymores. He played the title role of one of the longest books of our day, when it was filmed. His current starring role on Broadway had all the critics drooling about him. He's a fine actor, that Fredric March!

IF YOU'RE crazy about old-time songs, you can't miss this one! She began her theatrical career as a dramatic actress, switched to operettas, and then, after a siege of throat trouble, became the leading exponent of the songs of the mauve decade. A star of both radio and vaudeville, she recently performed in "Diamond Horseshoe," the glamour-girl musical picture, in which she has a featured role. You'll be surprised the next time you see her, 'cause she's giving up the Gay 90's stuff, and is going modern with a vengeance! Got it? . . . That's right, it's Beatrice Kay!

WASHINGTON, July 6—Brig. Gen. Elliott Roosevelt, who is reported to be very sad and broken-hearted over disclosures of his high-financing, is conducting an investigation. He is trying to find out who called him a —.

Gen. Roosevelt

The gallant general was guest with his missus, Faye Emerson, at the New York home of Phil Ammidown. This Ammidown is quite a character himself, having been Errol-Flynned out of one wife and being a noted torch-carrier for sundry females.

Ammidown has a mansion, with a small pool in the backyard and a patio complete with bar. He is said to take to the pool whenever he wishes to cool off from thoughts of how Errol Flynn separated him from his second wife.

Anyway, Ammidown was playing host recently to the Roosevelts. Also present were Capt. Jack Vietor, recently returned from 15 months in a Nazi prison camp, and several others.

The Roosevelts left the group and went upstairs. The conversation of those remaining naturally turned to Elliott's dealings with John Hartford, the A. & P. tycoon.

They did not realize the patio is a sounding well and that everything can be heard clearly upstairs. Someone asserted that Gen. Roosevelt is getting what is coming to him, that he is a —.

The general came dashing downstairs breathing fire. He took Ammidon to another room and demanded to be told the identity of the miscreant.

"I don't remember," said Ammidon. "But it wasn't me."

Roosevelt then took Capt. Vietor aside for a private grilling. No good. He repeated the performance with the others, but all declined to cop a plea.

So Gen. Roosevelt doesn't know yet who called him a —.

I AM HAPPY to report that the ego of my valued assistant, Miss Marion Reid, has just been well-defined. Miss Reid, who considers herself a very hot dish, accompanied me to the Forest Glen Annex to Walter Reed Hospital, where I annoyed the assemblage by telling them about the newspaper business.

Miss Reid, wearing a new Russian-style ensemble, which does her no harm, was swishing down the corridor when a group of G. I.'s whistled at her. She was quite pleased and was beaming all over until her escort apologized:

"Please pay no attention to it. They whistle at anything up here!"

ANYWAY, a number of the patients, undoubtedly misguided fellows, said they would like to get into the newspaper business after their discharge. They asked if partial disability would be a handicap.

I told them the truth—and I trust publishers will not howl too loudly that I am revealing trade secrets. I told them no reporter would dream of walking anywhere so long as taxicabs are operating.

"They are the taxicab ridingest non-pedestrians in the world," I said.

A GI asked what about a veteran with one arm, and again I told the truth. I said that any fellow who could learn to type with five fingers, would be three up on most reporters, including me; that the newspaper business is notorious for its two-finger hunt and punch typewriter-wreckers and that lose of an arm wouldn't even begin to be a handicap.

Letters from doting mothers pleading with the principal to give their darling daughters higher marks. Also, a big pile of rubber checks from some of America's most pretentious families.

FEW MEMBERS of the Washington hierarchy have held as many and various jobs as Fred M. Vinson of Kentucky.

Vinson came here in 1924 as a member of the House of Representatives. Later he became a judge of the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals; then chief judge of the U. S. Emergency Court of Appeals then economic stabilizer; then federal loan administrator, and finally war mobilizer.

Senate Majority Leader Alben W. Barkley was kidding Vinson about all the jobs he has held.

"It makes it very tough on anybody from Kentucky," Sen. Barkley said. "Whenever I try to get a job for one of my constituents they reel off a list of the jobs that have gone to Kentucky. The trouble is that all of them have gone to Fred Vinson."

"I said to President Truman the other day:

"'Look, Mr. President, when you get through giving Vinson all the jobs he wants, there are a couple of deserving Kentuckians I would like to talk to you about ——!'"

VFW Chief to Seek Law Giving Rental Priority to Veterans

By KENT HUNTER
Boston Evening American Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON, July 6—A realistic approach to establishment of rental priorities for returning veterans who need adequate housing is being made by Omar B. Ketchum, national legislative representative of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Ketchum will ask the National Executive Committee of the VFW to consider a request for legislation to establish such rental priorities nationally.

Back of it is the general housing shortage, also the fact that 200,000 veterans are being returned to civil life each month, thousands of them with no homes to care for themselves and their families adequately, or to permit unmarried veterans to marry and establish homes.

"During the war years," Ketchum said, "families of many veterans shared apartments or houses, of necessity because of reduced income while the principal wage earner was in service, with his return, larger quarters become vital to re-establish the family.

"In the large centers the veteran finds no house available for rental. He finds this situation:

"A large proportion of the property owners, realizing that postwar building will make present properties obsolete, are trying to sell at current inflated prices. They cannot increase rents under OPA ceilings, so they hold their property for sale.

"The veteran cannot get a federal appraisal that will let him purchase under the terms of the GI Bill. The federal appraisers find asking prices too high.

"If the veteran seeks employment and finds a job offered in a new town by the United States Employment Service, he must take that job or lose his unemployment insurance rights. Yet, in many cases, lack of a place to move his family prevents his taking the available job."

Dateless Flier Seeks Cure for Unusual Allergy

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., July 6 (INS)—Pity poor Lt. Alfred Elkin—he's allergic to well-dressed women.

They make him sneeze and his eyes begin to water the minute he gets close to them. And a kiss makes his lips sore.

The lieutenant is allergic to cosmetics. He developed his allergy as a navigator with the 13th Air Force squadron in New Guinea, of all places.

But it wasn't until he had spent four months at the AAF regional hospital at Orlando, Fla., that the doctors determined what made him sneeze.

Elkin is now assigned here at the AAF redistribution station as a classification officer.

He hasn't had a date in six months.

He spends his spare time sculptoring the heads of beautiful women who never use cosmetics.

Pigeons to Face Secret Weapon

The pigeons in Boston, already harassed by Park Commr. Long's starvation edict, don't know it yet, but city officials have devised a new secret weapon to drive them from their accustomed haunts.

The new weapon, according to Public Works Commr. Robert P. Curley, is the Fossidi, an electrically-operated whistle, pitched too high for the human ear to register, but it gives the pigeons a headache, causing them to leave for more peaceful zones.

15 Million Port Bill Gets More Support

While the Senate ways and means committee today prepared its report on the $15,000,000 Port of Boston Authority bill, which it will submit to the Senate Monday, additional and powerful support piled up behind the measure.

CAPT. WILLIAM H. BRITT
Wins Police Promotion

Not only was approval of the $15,000,000 bond issue forthcoming from Senate President Arthur W. Coolidge and Senator Cornelius F. Haley, senior member of the upper branch, but an organized effort was being made to marshal legislative strength for the final two-thirds majority vote required to pass the bond issue.

The Greater Boston Development Committee's executive board voted to contact the 87 House members who voted against the bill Tuesday, in an effort to gain their support in the final showdown.

Senator Coolidge said he was thoroughly in sympathy with the Port project and expressed the belief that "an adequate fund will be made available to satisfy those interested in the development of Boston harbor."

In his endorsement of the bill Sen. Haley said: "The committee on state administration, which considered the Port Authority bill before the ways and means committee did, unanimously recommended a bond issue of $15,000,000, with no strings attached."

By "strings," Sen. Haley explained, he referred to the amendment which limits the spending to $5,000,000 during the present legislative term.

"The committee visited New York, Philadelphia and Baltimore and studied port facilities and setups in these cities," Sen. Haley continued. "We can't compete with New York, but we can with Philadelphia and Baltimore, our nearest competitors. Even the city of Portland, Me., is waking up to the necessity of more and better harbor facilities.

"I believe the Senate will go along with the House to vote the $15,000,000 and that when the vote on the bond issue comes up, the required two-thirds vote will be obtained."

Sen. William E. Nolen (D.) of Holyoke said:

"The new Port Authority bill will need a substantial amount of funds to work with, and I will vote for the $15,000,000 amendment. I believe the two-thirds vote in the Senate is assured."

World Opium Check Is Aim of U. S. Move

By RAY RICHARDS
Boston Evening American Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON, July 6—Exchange of notes has been started by the Treasury Dept. and the State Dept. toward setting up opium control machinery as one of the first world improvement implements of the United Nations.

Another objective is a conclave of representatives of all members of the United Nations to hasten world ratification of a treaty limiting opium production to the bare needs of science and medicine.

The San Francisco Charter of the new world organization lacks specific mention of narcotics regulation but the American delegation issued an official promise in the final hours of the meeting that the council would undertake such control.

Harry J. Anslinger, commissioner of the Treasury Department narcotics section, said the present correspondence with the State Department is preliminary to a series of consultations between his office, State Department officials and opium control authorities.

The meetings will draft proposals for organization of a body to be known as the United Nations Opium Commission, to be formed around the remnants of the League of Nations Opium Advisory Committee.

"The war has engulfed the old controls in chaos," Anslinger said, "and my federal enforcement organization is getting set for a flood of smuggled narcotics into the United States and a spread of the narcotics habit as a result of conditions which have placed great numbers of our men for prolonged periods in the opium-producing, opium-using sections of the world."

U. S. Poles Angered By O. K. of Warsaw

By DAVID SENTNER
Boston Evening American Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON, July 6—Recognition by the United States of the Soviet-sponsored Polish Provisional Government is the forerunner of the complete Communization of Europe and an intensive Red subversive campaign among the six million Americans of Polish extraction.

This was the warning telegraphed today to President Truman by the co-ordinating committee of American Polish Associations in the East which labeled the American recognition of the Communist Warsaw Regime as climaxing a diplomatic policy of constant Soviet appeasement and violation of the principles of the Atlantic charter.

In the name of the American Polish Congress, representing all groups of Polish-Americans, the committeee announced that the Polish government-in-exile in London would continue to be recognized and considered the only constitutional Polish government.

The committee that it would consider the Warsaw provisional government recognized by the United States and Britain as "nothing else but an instrument to introduce Communism in Poland and into our American-Polish community."

The communication to the White House reviewed the constant warnings of leading Polish-American groups of the danger confronting the United States from Soviet determination to subjugate Poland and through Poland the whole of eastern and central Europe.

The Polish-American committee declared that the endorsement of the Curzon Line in Poland and the acceptance of the proposed spheres of influence resulted not only in a new partition of Poland, but in the first partition of Europe.

"Now, the Curzon line has been shifted to the heart of Europe," the committee added, "and the European Curzon line runs along the present demarkation line between the American and British forces and the Soviet armies from Trieste in the south to Lubeck in the north.

"As a result of this wall dividing Europe into two worlds, 160 million Europeans are surrendered to Soviet influence and Communistic indoctrination.

"Since we always considered the acceptance of the Curzon line in Poland as the first step to the complete destruction of Poland's independence, so do we seek in this new line dividing Europe into two spheres of influence the initial step preparing the ground for the Communization of Europe.

"This situation finds its origin in our abandonment of the moral war aims contained in the Atlantic Charter and their disregard in the case of Poland, our first ally in this war. It presents a grave danger not only to the whole of Europe but to the United States as well."

Bent Barrel Rifle Claimed Practical

PARIS, July 6 (INS) — An American Army Intelligence officer said the German rifle designed to shoot around corners had proved to be a practical weapon.

Col. John A. Keck reported that tests proved the worth of the weapon which could be used on tanks as protection against close-range attacks.

"There's a peculiar kick and pull present in the rifle which makes it inaccurate and purely experimental," Col. Keck said, "and it is doubtful if it will be used in this war."

Chicken Treat

By MARTHA LEE

SHORTAGES of gasoline and railroad transportation spell stay-at-home summer for many of us. And with the children out of school and no place to go it may mean extra work for mothers. But it doesn't have to, not if you make "less work for mother" your summer theme; and this means reducing to a minimum actual household duties like cleaning and preparing meals.

Start off by putting away all the flounces and frills, hiding the knicknacks that require dusting, rolling up the rugs and taking down the curtains. That will save a maximum of tedious work during hot months. Now, organize your little army and give each young soldier a special job for the summer duration.

A schedule of making beds, washing dishes, dusting, sweeping the front porch, feeding the dog, etc., can be posted weekly and the chores changed for variation. You'll find that a little co-operation goes a long way and helps to breed understanding and patience even in the youngest. Meals, of course, belong in your department. Make them nourishing, but simple. Plan them so that you won't have to leave the table several times during the meal; and on particularly hot days put the whole meal on the table at once—and relax.

MENU

Chilled Tomato Juice
Cold Fried Chicken or
Chicken Salad
Tossed Green Salad
Peanut Butter Custard Pie
Iced Tea Coffee Milk

FRIED CHICKEN

1 young chicken (3 lbs.)
Salt and pepper 1 cup flour
2 eggs, slightly beaten
¼ tbsp. water
1 cup fine bread crumbs
¼ cup butter or margarine
¼ cup fat (pork fat if available)
Cream gravy

Cut chicken in pieces for serving, wash and dry. Season with salt and pepper, roll in flour, dip in slightly beaten eggs diluted with water, and roll in crumbs. Saute in butter and fat in heavy frying pan until browned on all sides; cover and place in moderate oven (350 deg. F.) ½ to ¾ hour, or until tender. If chicken weighs more than 3 pounds, add ½ cup hot water to pan in oven. Serve with cream gravy made from drippings in pan, substituting light cream for milk. Makes 6 servings.

CHICKEN SALAD

2 cups cooked chicken
Salt and pepper Lettuce
1 cup diced celery
½ cup French dressing
½ cup mayonnaise or salad dressing

The chicken should be free from skin, fat and gristle and should be cut in cubes ½ to ¾ inch in size. Sprinkle meat with salt and pepper, add celery and French dressing and let chill half an hour or more. Serve on platter in lettuce cups and garnish with mayonnaise or salad dressing. Makes 6 servings. (Cooked veal or pork may be substituted for chicken in part or entirely. The salad may be garnished with sliced hard-cooked eggs and capers, or ripe olives.)

PEANUT BUTTER CUSTARD PIE

¼ cup peanut butter
2 cups skim milk ½ cup sugar
1 tsp. salt 1 tsp. vanilla
2 egg yolks, well beaten
2 egg whites, stiffly beaten
1 unbaked 9-inch pie shell

Place peanut butter in bowl, add milk ½ cup at a time, beating with a rotary beater until smooth. Combine egg yolks, sugar and salt; beat until light. Combine with peanut butter mixture. Add vanilla. Fold in egg whites. Pour into pie shell. Bake in hot oven (450 deg. F.) 15 minutes; then decrease heat to slow (325 deg. F.) and bake 35 minutes longer. Cool.

Superior Hair Remover

Beauty

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE
Beauty and Fashion Editor

ALLURING LEGS are a favorite topic of discussion with a beauty editor . . . especially in summertime. We see so many of them on the beaches . . . the tennis courts . . . and wherever play clothes are in order . . . that legs are the hot weather's piece de resistance.

This year . . . even more than during previous recent summers . . . bare legs are the vogue . . . and it is more essential today than possibly even before that we all make every effort to have our legs as attractive and alluring as is within our power. For this type of beauty . . . we need only see to it that first . . . our legs are hair-free . . . and, secondly, that they possess a well-suntanned shade.

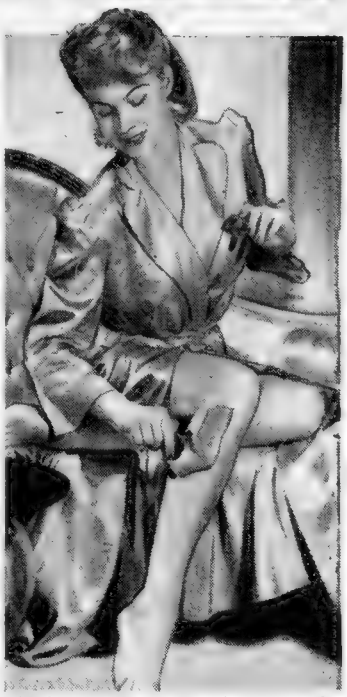
The simplest way to remove superfluous hair is probably by the use of a razor . . . but inasmuch as the result is usually that the growth is heavier, more bristly and more apparent . . . we should recognize the fallacy of that expedient. To our way of thinking . . . by far the easiest way to remove hair is to apply a cream depilatory or hair-removing lotion. These preparations are used quickly and with ease . . . and you will find that they remove all of the visible hair satisfactorily. Of course, you must expect that a regrowth will appear . . . but since it is so easy to apply a hair-removing cream or lotion . . . there is no difficulty in repeating the process when necessary

CAN BE USED ON THE FACE

The most effective and by far the most satisfactory way to eliminate superfluous hair is by means of the wax treatment. There is one that comes in a solid cake form and is heated in a saucepan and applied while it is still warm. The application is made in strips in the direction the hair points. One can readily remove the application, lifting with it all of the hairs which have been covered by the strip. And such hairs are not only removed from the surface . . . but you will find that the heated preparation has temporarily expanded the hair ducts . . . thus permitting the removal of the entire hair from both above and below the surface of the skin.

This is by far superior to removing all surface hairs, for it not only delays any possible reappearance of hair growth . . . but each application further weakens the growth . . . and the need for future applications becomes less and less as such treatments are continued. This depilator wax is so bland . . . that it even can be used on the face and its delicate tissues

For the name of this depilator wax, phone the Beauty Department, LIBerty 4000, or write me, care of the Boston Evening American, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.



FOR ALLURING legs that are absolutely hair free with not a single trace of an errant strand to mar the intriguing appearance . . . use a warm wax treatment and see how the unwanted hair in a single upward motion is totally relegated to oblivion . . . for it not only removes the hair from above and below the skin . . . but actually weakens future growth. Summertime limbs . . . long, lithe and lovely, must of necessity be as smooth as glass.

My Day

By Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt

Copyright, 1945, United Feature Synd., Inc.

HYDE PARK, Thursday—In today's column, I want to write about the joys of leisure. Leisure, of course, does not mean that one has nothing to do. It means, rather, that one's occupations are changed.

For two days this week, mine changed quite completely. I did nothing but play, sharing my pleasure with friends who were able to spend a little time with me.

One friend of mine I marvel at whenever we meet. She must be nearly my age, and yet she manages to do all of her own housework in a big old-fashioned house.

She keeps a tremendous garden going, because it is wartime and we must grow food. Sometimes she has one rather elderly man to help her, but much of the time she is all alone.

She has picked quarts and quarts of strawberries and taken them to people who could preserve them for winter use. She is interested in everything that is going on in her neighborhood—church, school and politics.

She writes for the papers occasionally on things of general interest, and innumerable letters go out to her friends, her children in this country and her son overseas.

★ ★ ★

I OFTEN THINK that all of this must tire her, but she welcomes guests to her home and makes them feel that they are a joy and not a burden.

When she spends a day with me, she swims and talks and seems completely able to enjoy her leisure.

That is the mark of a really well-controlled person.

One of our two leisure evenings here at the cottage was spent in listening to some beautiful new recordings of Earl Robinson's "Lonesome Train." Although he himself had played it for me on the piano, I had never heard it as a complete record.

★ ★ ★

LAST EVENING we took to reading poetry aloud. Some poems I think are particularly good to read in this way, because they are more enjoyable when you hear the rhythm of the lines.

Alfred Noyes' "Barrel Organ," as well as his "Highwayman" and other shorter poems brought us finally to Countee Cullen's "The Black Christ."

This poem of Countee Cullen's has great literary beauty. Its theme is also so compelling that I often think it should be required reading in every school.

Simplest Dress Can Be Chic

By BETTINA BEDWELL

THIS IS no time for fuss and complication in dress, with the hot weather likely to make new records. Simple, serene dresses are the ones that look good in dog days, and this goes for dress-up doings just as much as for any other kind.

Don't get the idea that you are not dressed enough in a very simple dress, for you are, if it's a good dress. The formal afternoon model sketched by Miss Dulin is as dressy a frock as anybody needs to wear. This Mollie Parnis dress is made of black and pastel blue printed sheer crepe, and the very deep V-shaped neckline and short pleated sleeves are charming. So is the black belt that is tied with a soft bow of the dress material. Long pale blue gloves of cotton jersey add to the formal look of the model.

Marshall Named Port Commander

Brig. Gen. James C. Marshall, 47, a West Point graduate of 1918, on Sunday will succeed Brig. Gen. Calvin DeWitt, Jr., as commander of the Boston Port of Embarkation. The latter goes to an undisclosed Pacific command.

In the past 13 months, 656,575 troops and 5,468,732 tons of supplies were shipped overseas from Boston, it was announced, and since V-E Day 91,471 soldiers have returned through this port.

Marshall, a Missourian, returned recently after 15 months' duty in the Southwest Pacific.

Western Union Opens New Cable Service

A new cable service, Victory Letter Telegrams, with a substantial reduction in charges, available to members of the armed forces and others outside the United States, was announced today by Western Union.

The VLT service is available to and from members of the armed forces, Red Cross personnel, and members of the American Field Service. Rate is the same as the cable nightletter rate per word with a minimum requirement of 10 words.

Pick Vegetables Small To Get Excellent Quality

By FOSTER H. WEISS

Head of the Vegetable Gardening Dept., Norfolk County Agricultural School and director of the Boston Record-American-Advertiser garden on Boston Common.

It is important for V-gardeners to know when to use the vegetables they produce. Usually, they are guided by the products they have seen offered currently in the markets.

Commercial grown products are always allowed to reach maximum size so that the growers can get the biggest yield possible. Home gardeners, however, will get better quality by using their crops when they are on the small side.

This also gives them a better chance to use up a larger portion of the crop. Beets and carrots are excellent quality when one inch across the shoulder. Early varieties of cabbage can be used before the head is too hard.

Waiting too long will only result in some split heads.

Once you realize the difference in the quality and flavor of home-grown fresh-picked vegetables you will not want to go back to the store variety.

If you have seeds left over that were surplus this year, let me suggest that you put them in cans or jars and store in a cool, dry place. Recent reports seem to indicate that there will be a heavy demand for seeds by our European neighbors which may cause a shortage here. The only seed not worth saving is parsnip which will last for only one year. Label seeds plainly and do not allow them to become damp.

If your gardens are producing more peas and greens than your family can use, a small amount can be kept in the freezing compartment of your refrigerator. It is better to harvest them when they are at the right stage and freeze them than to try to hold them in the garden.

To get vegetables ready for freezing, wash and prepare as for cooking. Blanch in boiling water for from 45 to 60 seconds for peas, and 150 seconds for greens. Cool; drain and pack vegetables in refrigerator trays that have been lined with waxed paper. Place in freezing compartment and hold.

This is only temporary storage and vegetables should not be held more than a week or 10 days.

A-1 Stage Bill For Boston Fans

By PEGGY DOYLE

Between John Calvert's floating Lady Godiva, John Boles' soaring vocalizing and Walter Nilsson's ceiling-scraping unicycling, RKO Boston's topflight stage show ranks with the season's best.

The incredible things Calvert is causing to happen before popeyed audiences at the Keith house this week are certain to put the reader into the doubting Thomas classification.

First in his oversized bag of tricks is the norseless Lady Godiva stunt, in which a beautifully air-conditioned, beautiful girl sails through the air above the customers with superb equanimity.

After you get that crick out of your neck your attention is directed on stage where eighth servicemen are grouped. Calvert asks a pair of them to shake hands and they discover they can't let go. He asks a sailor to put his hand on the floor, the fellow complies and then he can't lift his hand from the floor. Another is requested to give the Jap salute . . . you know, the hand to nose gesture . . . and it appears to be a permanent pose.

The audience was frantically enthusiastic over the Great Calvert's mind-over-matter prowess. And just about then, the great man summoned two youths on stage and, with seeming reluctance, he stated that though he didn't relish doing so he was going to kill them.

Assuming a Dr. Jekyll makeup and with knife in hand, he sauntered down the aisle as patrons jammed down and out to the lobby. Compromising, Calvert hypnotized one lad and sawed his head off, or so it seemed to us gaping goons. Naturally, suddenly transformed into Mr. Hyde, this could not have happened.

John Boles' conquest of the first-show audience was equally unanimous if more happily achieved. He sang a medley of possibly a dozen numbers, finishing with "Waiting at the Gate with Katie." For this windup number, he was garbed in a gay 90's combination of checked coat and brown derby. The audience whistled the second chorus and stopped the show with their applause.

Three Good News Items: One That Is Depressing

By AUSTEN LAKE

THIS IS THREE-FOURTHS GOOD and one-fourth bad. I'll present the majority side first, to wit and viz: (1) Comes a letter penned in the spenceriaN script of Democratic House Leader John W. McCormack. It reads:

"Recently you wrote a column about a "blue discharge" given Matthew C. Regan, former private U. S. Army who is now in the Veterans' Administration Facility (mental hospital) at Bedford, Mass. I took his case up with Undersecretary Patterson and I am glad to advise that, after reconsideration by the Secretary of War's Review Board, an HONORABLE discharge has been directed to be issued to Regan.

Austen Lake

"I also take pride in adding that the present law which makes review of discharges possible was introduced into Congress by me ten years ago. (signed) John W. McCormack."

Ed note—In case the reader wasn't list'nin': Regan, an ex-Army jeep driver, was discharged "without honor" following a jeep accident which fractured his skull and rendered him mentally incompetent. There was no court-martial. The Army issued his blue discharge, alleging that at the time of accident he was driving "without authority." Regan, however, could not testify in self-defense due to permanent black-out of memory. Just the same he was deprived of all military rights, pay allotments, etc., and confined to a mental institution.

Now by Congressman McCormack's effort, Regan is restored to HONOR. He is back on the Army roll. His wife and two children, who have been subsisting on her $12 a week job as a waitress, will receive retroactive allotments. Also the hospital, instead of dunning the wife with periodic $30 assessments for the man's clothing, cigarets and incidental expenses, will furnish those items free.

Chelsea Comes Through for Navy Wife

ITEM NO. 2. THE CHELSEA DISTRICT COURT has recalled the execution order for the eviction of Mrs. Cecelia McClellan, mother of six and wife of a Navy machinist now in the deep Pacific, whose cause was espoused by this corner. The court, as is usual when a defendant fails to answer a summons, defaulted Mrs. McClellan and issued an eviction order, which the local constable and the moving-van men refused to service. The landlord, who incidentally works on the night shift at the Boston Navy Yard, was preparing to oust the family on July 2.

BUT, following free representation by Atty. Jerry Komens and sympathetic action by numerous Chelsea personalities, a stay of execution was granted and a new hearing set, at which Mrs. McClellan's case will be argued on the premise that she is NOT the legal lessee of the tenement, which was rented by her absent sailor husband who in absentia may not be evicted. Thanks, good people!

Item No. 3. Petition for a town meeting is before the selectmen of Randolph and one will shortly be called to consider the appeal of ex-Pvt. Edward T. Clark, former Randolph cop and a wounded veteran who wants his old job back. Under the GI Bill of Rights he's entitled to it. But Clark has a stiff left knee, incurred from shrapnel wounds. He asks to be assigned to a desk job in the police office, where none such has existed before.

Selectman Ted Luddington says "Yes!" The other two selectmen don't say! And the chief of police, Pat T. McDonnell, huffs and puffs and has notified the board if there is any desk job created, he wants it himself. Meanwhile Clark is out on the limb with no income for his mortgaged cottage and family. So Randolph is calling a town meeting at which the citizens, largely sympathetic with Clark, will almost surely vote his way. Let's see!

Sad Postscript to Pvt. McGee

AND NOW FOR THE BAD! "Pvt." Joseph V. McGee, whose much-publicized court-martial sentence to two years at hard labor for socking nine surly mutinous Kraut PWs, created national outrage and final liberation by the Secretary of War, is in the boiler again. After being made staff sergeant and detailed to the Ft. Devens' motor pool, McGee is in the camp sneezy for his third AWOL since his prison pardon. Terms in the guard house and being "busted" in rank are no effective cure. He's before the court again.

The soldier appears to suffer from a chronic case of itchy feet, which climb him over fences and wander off the reservation. The fort authorities have been astonishingly patient. Possibly because he served a large chunk of his unwarranted penal sentence they have whittled his penalties to a minimum. Even now they are giving him the mildest court-martial of three categories, a "Special" instead of the "Summary" or "General" which call for stiff sentences. McGee has had the best breaks!

I suggest that the soldier is not normal; that there are indications of neurosis, possibly due to nervous strain. For no man, after having had so fair a shake, however belated, would deliberately stick his head in the satchel again and again if his nervous hookup and mental functions were sound. Plainly the boy's bell is cracked! For when he was liberated and given a few hours' furlough home he recited a sensational yarn to the press about escaping from his stockade in France, joining a combat unit and earning a purple heart and silver star by kayoing a German pillbox. Investigation shows that the tale was fictitious. He got no wound, no purple heart, no silver star and no Kraut pillbox. His medals and heroism were self-cited.

It doesn't make simple sense that any soldier, however low his IQ, would dare invent such fiction, knowing beforehand he couldn't get away with it. It's pure punchiness and the recommendation is that the court remand McGee for a thorough psycho checkup, with treatment or final incapacity as indicated.

I might add that whatever the court finds I am gratified that he was absolved from that Kraut socking sentence. It was a wrong rap whatever liability McGee has turned out to be.

Tommy Holmes Shoots For Hornsby Hit Mark

By BILL GRIMES

During the four games with the Cubs, the Braves sacrificed too much defensive strength in the vain hope of getting more punch into its offense and blew the entire series. But, from here on, it will be a different set-up.

After watching Butch Nieman's exhibition in left field yesterday Bob Coleman should be satisfied that the Indians' lone chance of staying in the league is as a ninth hitter. So Butch is out on the limb.

Vince Shupe

And another move which should bolster the Braves' all around strength was made when General Manager Bill Quinn sent Joe Mack to Indianapolis in exchange for Vince Shupe, who was to report today.

The many Braves lineup shuffles didn't mean a thing to the fans today. Their interest was centered on Tommy Holmes' efforts to tie Rogers Hornsby's 1922 record for hitting in 33 consecutive games.

Brilliant Tommy the's batting still needed one bingle in the opening half of the twin bill to equal the mark. If he could accomplish the feat and then go on to set a new record at 34 games by hitting in the nightcap you may be sure the fans' cheers will be heard all the way to Holmes' Brooklyn neighborhood.

Joe Mack came to the Braves this spring. He was ballyhooed to the skies. Either the Braves got the wrong Mack or the experts were never more wrong. Mack was a flop almost from the start. And the longer he remained with the club the worse he played.

Coleman, and also Quinn, were convinced a month ago that Mack couldn't make the grade. During the last series with the Giants in New York, the Braves closed a deal with Indianapolis, Mack for Vince Shupe. But in the two games at the Polo Grounds, Mack came home run and batted in no fewer than seven runs. So, of course, there was nothing for General Manager Quinn to do but call off the trade until Mack returned to normalcy. In his last 12 games with the Braves, Mack hit for .339 and struck out 10 times. So, he was sent on his way.

Vince Shupe, who made his major league debut this afternoon, came to the Braves in the spring of 1944 as a southpaw pitcher. He was farmed to Hartford, where Del Bissonette, who was managing the Laurels, converted him into a first baseman. Shupe batted .339 in the Eastern League last season and his RBI was 109. He was sent to Indianapolis, after the intra-city series with the Red Sox last spring. He hit .325 for the Indians and was leading the American Ass'n in runs batted in, 45.

HAVEN'T WON FROM PIRATES

Shupe will not celebrate his 24th birthday until the Wednesday after Labor Day. He entered organized baseball after graduating from East Canton, O., High School in 1939 and was sent to Olean in the Pony League. He was made a free agent after the 1942 season and John Quinn signed him.

Shupe will lighten up the Braves' infield and will also add some punch to the offense. He's a "Fancy Dan" around the bag and is a good looking left hand hitter.

Completely recovered from the heavy cold which cost him defeats in his last two starts, Nate Andrews will take on the Pirates this afternoon in the first game. Don Hendrickson, recently acquired from Milwaukee, will pitch the afterpiece.

The Braves haven't won a game from the Pirates this season. On their first visit, the Frischmen took the only game played. It was during our rainy season. Then, out in Pittsburgh, they picked up three more, mainly through the generosity of the Braves.

The Pirates will be here over the week-end. After today's twin bill, they'll play a single game tomorrow and wind up their stay with a Sunday double-header.

Dog Tracks to Ask for Extra Charity Dates

By JACK CONWAY

THE REVERE, Taunton and Raynham dog tracks will petition the Racing Commission for extra nights of racing for charity . . . Chairman Louis Hoffman of the Racing Commission declared recently that sufficient extra nights of dog racing will be approved to permit the Community Fund, Red Cross, Disabled Veteran Fund, Bristol County charities and other war and peace charities to get as much money from greyhound racing as they did in the past.

It is expected that Revere will seek 20 nights of charity racing, while Taunton and Raynham will each try to obtain 10 nights . . . As it will be impossible for Taunton to conduct its extra nights of racing until after the close of Russ Murray's Raynham meeting, there is a possibility that arrangements may be made by which the charity nights of racing in Bristol County will be held at the Raynham track.

Fred Ostergren

This would make it unnecessary for Taunton to reopen and get its officials back from different parts of the country . . . The Raynham officials would be in charge of the races during the 20 extra nights of racing.

The request for the additional nights of racing will come from the managements of the tracks . . . The Commission will not take any action until the requests for the extra nights are before it . . . Chairman Hoffman and Commissioners Bayard Tuckerman, Jr., and Harry Allen are 100 per cent behind the plan to have charities share in the rich greyhound spoils.

Fred V. Ostergren

THE DEATH of Fred V. Ostergren took from schoolboy sports one of its finest characters . . . His passing will be a severe loss to Arlington High where he was athletic director, and to schoolboy sports throughout New England.

Fred was a member of the American-Record All-Scholastic Board . . . He always helped in the selection of the All-Scholastic football team by this board, and later attended the dinner tendered to the youngsters selected for the team.

Ostergren, as an active athlete with Roxbury High, Holy Cross and the Red Sox, gained fame . . . In high school and in college, he starred in baseball and in football.

Fred was a successful college football coach, but it was as a schoolboy coach at Arlington High that he was able to do the most good . . . He had the happy faculty in getting the most out of young athletes, and in making them realize that the development of character and true sportsmanship were more important than gaining victories.

The last time I met Fred he talked at length about the exploits in the war of boys he had coached at Arlington High . . . He was very proud of what these youngsters had done in combat areas.

This writer knew Ostergren since we were members of the same baseball club in Roxbury . . . Fred was the pitcher and I was the catcher on one of the many clubs that were organized at the Marcella st. playgrounds . . . During all the time I knew Fred, I never once saw him display anger or say an unkind word about a single person . . . He got great delight in telling the story of how he knocked four home runs in a single game while playing for the old Roxbury A. C team against Reading in a game at Reading.

Random Shots at Target

FOR THE Braves to improve their position in the National League race it will be necessary for the club to get more consistent pitching . . . The Tribe has an abundance of pitchers who should be producing top flinging . . . Manager Bob Coleman is hopeful he can get his mound men clicking.

The Red Sox have been getting much better pitching than the Braves . . . Since Dave Ferriss started bowling over the opposition other Sox pitchers have gotten the idea that they also can win ball games.

Navy Yarders to Tackle Caseys

The Navy Yard A. A. will move back to its regular home field—Barry Playground in Charlestown—tonight where they meet the Dick Casey Club of Dorchester in what will be an appropriate home-coming battle for the Navy Yarders.

The government took over the Charlestown playground shortly after the war began as a storage depot and the Navy club was forced to move to the Lee Playground in South Boston.

O'Neill and Heflin Hurl Twi Twin Bill

By HUCK FINNEGAN

CLEVELAND, Ohio, July 6—Hurried thoughts while hurrying for the train that was missed: five games in three days with the Indians, starting with a twi-night doubleheader this evening.

Hope the moths in the press box aren't so pesky as those in Washington . . . Emmett O'Neill and Randy Heflin do the pitching for Boston. All eyes on Heflin. If the ex-sailor pitches as he did in St. Louis, Cronin ought to restrict his scouts to service camps.

Emmett O'Neill

Dizzy Trout, in civvies, sits down as the Red Sox are hitting. "There's a good hitter," he says as Steiner lofts one into the bleachers. "That kid's hard to fool."

"How about Metkovich? What's he hitting?" asks Maier. To the ".280" answered he replies, "Must be hitting .500 against us." "Looks like Williams at the plate," says Cramer. "That's Baker," Trout continues, "calling my pitches. I told him 'Del, keep it up and you'll lose a good hitter. I'll crease somebody's brow.'" From Newhouser: "I'm going to have the phone taken out of my house. Keeps ringing every night from 8 to 12. Why did O'Neill catch Swift the other night? Why did you make that wild pitch. Crazy questions every night in the week."

"They give it to me, too," says O'Neill. "I caught a fellow yelling at me the other day, and before he finished the sentence I said: 'Richards has a broken rib.' Not another word out of him."

"These Red Sox can hit," says Skeeter Webb, Tiger shortstop and son-in-law of Manager O'Neill. "Yes, and keep your eye on those Senators," says O'Neill. "They've got five good starting pitchers—knucklers Niggeling, Leonard and Wolff; also Lefty Heafner and Pieretti."

"Yes," says Hoover, "but Clift can't hit home runs in Washington."

Rudy York: "I went eight for nothing the other day, and as I was walking back to the bench, somebody hollers 'Are you O'Neill's son-in-law, too?'" (The Hoover for shortstop rooters get on O'Neill for using Webb).

Ferriss warms up lefthanded in the right field pen. "Look at him, will you," says O'Neill, as the Tigers rise en masse. "Look at his actions. He's as natural left as right."

Trout: "That son-of-a-gun can win 30 righthanded and ten more lefthanded. "Yes and hit .400," says Mayo. "Nice boy too." they all agree. "Never opens his mouth. How different from Scheel of the White Sox. Dykes must be feeding Scheel all that dirt. He hasn't been around long enough to know the players' personal habits."

Vic Johnson is shagging in the outfield, makes a nice catch near the Detroit dugout. "Where did you get that kid?" asks Trout. "Looks like he's hard to hit. Did a fine relief job July 4. Plenty of motion and that stop made off Cramer wouldn't have been fielded by many pitchers."

Greenberg: "I can't make it, Steve. My Charley horse is bothering me." "Okay Hank," Steve relies. "Outlaw will take over. Take care of your legs."

The bell rings, and the Tigers start to warm up. "Come on lads, up and at 'em," says O'Neill. "Let's give 'em a good pasting today."

Greenberg, who "couldn't make it," bats in tying and winning runs as Tigers top Sox 9-8 in a game interrupted twice by rain.

Glider at Shangri-La—The glider sent in to rescue three survivors of an Army transport plane crash in New Guinea's Hidden Valley rests on the ground only a short distance from the survivors' camp. The camp appears to have been constructed with parachutes for tents. An Army C-47 later hooked the glider and towed it to Hollandia with the WAC and two soldier survivors. AP Wirephoto
